Always Reward Those Who Care.
Reward Those Who Solve Problems For You.
Reward Those Who Have A Passion For Your Dream.
Reward Those Who Help You Achieve Your Goal.

There are a lot of people working harder than you know about. You do not see them, but they are there. There are people who work long, tiring hours on your behalf. Some people are paying a high price to ensure your success.

Reward them generously.

You will never achieve any significant dream without others who care about you and want to be a part of your life.

It was one of Solomon’s 31 Secrets.

Solomon rewarded those who helped him achieve his goals. Hiram, the king of Tyre, assisted Solomon by providing materials and craftsmen to help build his palace and the temple. Solomon paid his workers an agreeable salary. “And Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand measures of wheat for food to his household, and twenty measures of pure oil: thus gave Solomon to Hiram year by year,” (1 Kings 5:11).

Uncommon achievers often ask in advance knowledge of the anticipated compensation for their time and effort. They deserve that incentive.

When David, the shepherd boy, heard about the challenge of Goliath, the first thing he wanted to know was what the rewards would be for the man who killed the giant.

“He will marry the king’s daughter and never have to pay taxes again,” he was told.

That reward birthed an Uncommon desire within David. He ran to the brook, gathered five stones, and used his sling to kill Goliath.

The Law of Reward is established strongly in scripture. (Deuteronomy 28:1-14; Malachi 3:9-11; Psalm 112:1-3; Mark 10).
